It has become a matter of personal interest to the Author to publish a Work which shall contain a full and correct account of the Argentine Republic, at the time of the progressive present condition of civilization in those Countries, and the Author's experience of our prime old publication—Glimpses of Land Lore in Distant Africa as well as in South America—and the Author's North and South Ameriing—Sketches of continental Life and Character in Europe, and Wanderings among the Indian and Negro Tribes of Africa—has induced him to think the opportunity favourable for the publication of a Work containing historical, philological, and accompanied speeches of the Native Valley, the Gran Chaco, the Pampas, and Patagonia, Santiago del Estero, Tucuman, and Cordova—a circumstance which will render the Work of peculiar interest, on account of the progress of Native civilization, colonization, mining, railways, and steam navigation.

FRIDAY, JULY 22, 1864.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

There is not a particle of news stirring about town; the native papers are insipid, the clubs are dull, the great 'automaton' is considering the next move, the Provincial Legislature is trying to get up a quorum—nothing now in native society. In our own foreign circle there is however "plenty of news."

In La Paz there have been great doings, two sons of Irishmen have beaten all the natives hollow at their own game 'sortija.' Our readers will find a full, true and perfect account of the affair from the pen of a Scotch subscriber, in another column.

Within the last few days a batch of English and American gentlemen have arrived with an aggregate capital of over £10 000, all bound for the camp, and with a determination to 'go into sheep.'

One steamer arrived from Montevideo yesterday morning, but brought very little news about Flores, or Moreno, or Walker; the latter it is said talks very big, and if he succeeds in his attempt to Walkerize Montevideo talks of annexing the Rio Grande—very possibly this go-ahead Brazilian will try his hand at Martin Garcia and even Buenos Ayres. We stop must be put to the latter democratic policy of Banda Oriental; respect for the lawful Government of the place is unknown, and the Oriental bank is fast drifting on to the rocks. The true Brazilian General who commands the Emperor's forces is a General Caldwell, he must be either a Scotchman or an Irishman; he is not a man to desert his colors and hoist his own standard if he comes up upon Netto he will make short work of him.

The travelling gauchos in the camp are still greatly complained of: we have received a communication on the subject, but must hold it over until to-morrow.

The Sanatory Commission are receiving splendid subscriptions in Montevideo: the Maua Bank has subscribed one hundred patacons.

The steamer Salto, which arrived from Montevideo yesterday morning, met with an accident coming out of the Mount; she was unable to go up the Uruguay on her usual hour.

Mr. Wheelwright will take the people in Rosario by surprise, as the Rosarinos expected him by the Pavon, but he left the day previous in the Fairy, Mr. Wheelwright will, therefore, probably arrive before the man goes up in the tower of the Cathedral, with a telescope, to be on the look out.

It is most extraordinary how Irishmen get on in the world, whether, and be come the leading politicians in the place. The latest from Salta is, that Don Jose Hilario Caroi (that is, in plain English, Mr. Joseph Hilary (Carrol), has been turned out of office: he was a deputy or senator of the Provincial House of Legislature.

On last Tuesday night there was a meeting of the English Racing Committee. We have not heard the proceedings, but we believe, that more funds are required to purchase a first rate racing ground We hope that our rich fellow countrymen in the camp will contribute liberally, as it is very unfair that the whole of the expense should be shouldered on a few spirited merchants here in town. It is a very respectable sum; but we ought to have fifty such names: and we feel confident that when the attention of our friends in the camp is directed to the matter, they will do the right thing.

We have received a powerful article, on the proposed reformation in the currency: it is from the elegant pen of one of our leading merchants. It will appear to-morrow.

As there is no political subject of importance on the tapis, Sr. Bilbao and Dr. Gutierres, of the 'Nacion Argentina,' have got up an acrimonious dispute about something, which we confess frankly we do not understand. The latest argument brought forward is, that Sr. Bilbao joined on the Banda Oriental side the sooner the discussion ceases the better for both parties.

The 'Tribuna' takes up the cause of the Bank clerks with a zest which would make one believe all these gentlemen are subterfuges. The grievance is, that whilst all the other public 'employees' have got a rise in their salaries, the Bank clerks have not. We think the 'Tribuna' is right, the Bank clerks should get a rise also: in fact, the whole establishment, president, directors, clerks, paper dollars, all should get a rise in the right direction, and the sooner the Casa de Moneda gets that rise the better for them and for the whole country.

The British packet Mersey will take home several of our leading foreign residents this trip. Mr. Phibbs will leave for Montevideo per steamer, until next month. The Mersey will leave Montevideo on the 30th inst.

THE DAILY PRESS

Some people are inclined to laugh at the boasted civilization of the 19th century, as if railways, steam, gas, telegraphs &c. were trifles unworthy of historic note. Yet it may be fairly presumed we are much ahead of all former ages in useful arts and inventions; and the progress of this century has gone hand-in-hand with an extraordinary development of the newspaper press. Take for instance the 'Times,' could with the paper and means extant only of England, but of the present day: in 1800 it was a small sheet in every way inferior to our little journal. Since then the increase of newspapers in England has been prodigious, especially of late years: in 1861 there were 600 papers in the U. Kingdom, and in 1861 the number reached 1240, doubling in tenyears. Comparing this with the population, and with Argentine statistics, we find in England a paper for 26,000 inhabitants, while the ratio in this republic shows one for 600 souls. Now we could quote the circulation the balance would be still more favorable for England, as the 'Times' we calculate must issue more than the united figures of all the papers in S. America.

Although the U. States can individually produce no equal to the 'Times' or 'Illustrated L. News', that country fairly beats "all creation" in newspapers, and there were 9,525 American papers, which were in 1860 rose to 4,051, or probably more than all the rest of the world collectively, and this for a population not exceeding that of G. Britain and Ireland. The annual returns (928 millions) give an average daily circulation of over three millions, or one in ten of the inhabitants. Comparing this with B. Ayres, the Athens of S. America, we find the latter circulates about 12 thousand daily or one in thirty of the population of the province.

Taking the above as the barometer of public instruction, we cannot but admit that B. Ayres stands very high; but with the same criterion we find that the Argentine provinces, the provinces, which count but one daily paper (the Ferro-carril of Rosario), for a population of over a million.

We think the Newspapers are powerful auxiliaries in popular education, it is not less certain that their circulation is commensurate with the liberality dependes upon the cheapness and regularity with which they can be supplied. When the 'Times' and other English papers were the exclusive pence a copy, the chief American journals were given at two cents and their circulation was limited to the exclusive few who could afford to pay that price. When the British organ of this city was sold at a shilling a copy, the circulation was limited to a few, and that the price is reduced 80 per cent, every English house in town and camp is a subscriber.

In most countries the press is now exempted from taxation, it being manifestly the interest of an enlightened Government to protect every means for the diffusion of popular enlightenment. Formerly it was so in B. Ayres but now, since the year 1863, in imitation of the Barbarians who burned the library at Alexandria to cook their victuals, has laid 20 per cent on the press, apparently in order to increase the ratios of its members. Moreover there is no regular despatch of papers to the rural districts, and in the country people dislike the diligence drivers to carry the weekly mails. It is to be hoped that better times will come and that the press of the Argentine Republic will experience such a wonderful impetus as was felt in the U. States, and be promotive of the same glorious results in enlightening the people, fomenting industry, and heralding the gigantic progress of a free and great country.

OUR COSMOPOLITE FRIENDS

The last files from Corrientes show that our previous respecting the unholy farce of twice sentencing a man to death, and subsequently making him a soldier with pay and rations, to expiate an atrocious cold blooded murder, have called forth various expressions of opinion. The Progreso agrees with us that it is a most scandalous case, but an anonymous correspondent undertakes to exculpate the judicial authorities on some quibble "that the 2nd trial did not call the character alevo to the crime." Sor Garantido does not explain why the murderer's trial was prolonged 3 years, or why he was not shot after the first sentence to that effect: He says they do not hang people 'a vapor' as in England; indeed we think they do nothing 'a vapor' in that locality. But we are inclined to prefer English justice, and hope the Correntines will learn to imitate rather than ridicule a country which stands foremost in the world's page. That our observations are meant in a kindly spirit is evident. Instead of leaving Corrientes without mention, as we do Paraguay, we have a good word in its progress, and have made it favorably known all over Europe for its cotton planting. We therefore desire to see its commercial abuses corrected, and no one can applaud such a system of justice (!) as we speak of. It is, however, a good sign, that our words are not unheeded, and we are glad to have aroused public attention so important an evil. Further, we could with the paper and means attention to cotton and tobacco, and less to Peruvian politics.

Great Jollifications in La Paz

9th of July Celebration

Anglo-Argentine Tournament

Since our country men have invaded La Paz, that secluded region has been making the most giant strides: cotton planting, sheepfarming, pork reasing, butter-making: in fact, if President Mitre could only see La Paz at present, and contrast it with the La Paz of former years, he would realise the fact, that if he wants to regenerate the country which he rules, the shortest and best plan is to throw half a dozen of energetic Englishmen, Irishmen, Scotchmen, or Americans, into every village in the interior, and the result cannot be doubted for one moment. Whatever the place can produce it must, and instead of revolutions and mock elections, we will have celebrations like the present, which we now chronicle.

It is with the greatest pleasure that we testify to the excellent character of the Gefe Politico, who is a man of the right stamp. The Juez de Paz, Sr. Mendes; in fact, all the authorities in La Paz are men of our own choice, inexorable in punishing murderers and robbers, but kind and affable to industrious residents, whether native or foreign. We wish, from our heart, that we had such men in the Partido, of Buenos Ayres, we would have less murder and fewer robberies —

To the Editors of the 'Standard.'

Gentlemen,

The morning of the 9th was ushered in with its usual greetings: the English flag the Argentine flag, and the Bolivian at our disposal by the authorities, in the square. Our dwelling, after a serenade by the house band, was honored by a visit from all the authorities in La Paz who came to invite us to the High Mass, celebrated by the vicar, private chaplain to the Prefect, assisted also by various clergymen After the 'Service' we proceeded to the Town hall, where a splendid lejeuner awaited us The toasts were drunk: General Pedernera, one of the few heroes of the Independence remaining, supported the toast of the day left by the authorities of the town, Colonel Masdew, and a brilliant staff. By general acclamation Dr. Billings was voted to the vice-chair: on the right was Sir Henry Wrixon Beecher, Bart., Messrs. George Dowdal, J. Duguid, Rabbings, and a very large party the various clergymen, Dr. Gascon, &c. Nothing could exceed the harmony, good feeling, and assurance of mutual friendship that flowed through the assembly by all ranks and classes. The usual loyal and national toasts passed from the Chair, and upon the health of our Gracious Queen Victoria being proposed, as if by magic, the native band, with one of the latter, played God Save the Queen. Then was a glorious moment for us, and the English hurrah rivated from shore to shore on the Parana. Dr. Billings eloquently and feelingly returned thanks, regretting being deprived of the pleasure of presenting to them one of the great supporters of British industry, and fomenting industry, and heralding the gigantic progress of a free and great country.

Dr. Billings eloquently and feelingly returned thanks, regretting being deprived of the pleasure of presenting to them one of the great supporters of British industry, and fomenting industry, and heralding the gigantic progress of a free and great country. he told them it was the first toast that he ever proposed—that if the English won the day's jousts, the Santa Fe side were also winners, as they won the friendship, gratitude, and admiration of the conquerors, for their valour in the joust and their generosity in the banquet.—

At last,sunrise broke up for a season the pleasures of La Paz.

This meeting has done more for the town and environs than you credit; it has established a confidence, a good feeling for some time lost; during the meeting of several hours,—for the things held meetings of estancieros from the frontiers of Corriente: and all parts of the province, exchanging copies of marks, and forming a chain of a rural police for the protection of stray cattle and the facility of corresponding through the neighbours of one estancia with the other, advising of lost or found animals, and prevenating the robbery of horses. In fact to us residents here it is invaluable. Mr. George Dowdal, who appears the idol of the town, is loudly greeted wherever he appears, and the burnin of England is a pass word—the consideration of the authorities and town for us is more even than we can merit. BANDA ORIENTAL

Latest advices from head quarters report that Flores was leading his army across the Santa Lucia, by the Barrancos ford, and Moreno with the government troops arrived at the Cuello pass pursuing the former, but a rencounter seems as unlikely as ever, the campaign continuing in the same manner as for the last 12 months.

Barra, editor of the 'Plata,' sent to demand explanation of Acha, editor of 'El Pais,' respecting a phrase which he considered injurious: the latter retracted it, fearing perhaps that his opponent was as great a fire-eater as the colleague ironically called 'Pacifica.'

Letters from Fray Bentos, 16th inst. to the 'Reforma' mention a gallant exploit by one Capt Oliveri, which officer left that place for Payaandu, on the 9th with a small body of men, and next morning learned that the Billibster Bernabe was in the neighbourhood: he immediately caused his men to unsaddle their horses, and started off bare backed, in pursuit of the rebels, they taking them at Costa Sanchez. They did not stand the charge but fled in all directions, Olivera chasing them for six leagues, killing 6, and taking 10 prisoners, among the latter their ring leader Bernabe Ledesma. The neighbors and foreign residents sent a petition to Olivera, begging a kind treatment for Bernabe as he had been of great service in protecting life and property during the past year. The Government authorities at Fray Bentos, we are happy to learn, give general satisfaction.

A Salto correspondent, 16th, reports the garrison in first rate order, Colonel Trillo having held a grand review, Colonel Pablo Lopez started on the 15th for the Arapey, to chase some rebels who had come over from Concordia. Col. Waldino Urquizu with 3.0 men is scouring the district of Cuareim: the garrison of Salto comprises 300 foot and 200 horse.

An anti-peace demonstration took place at Paysandu on the 10th. The Government picquets had fallen on Belen's band at Salsipuedes and driven it South of the Negro. Belen's another band under Maximo Aguseo was surprised near Mercedes, and the leader slain.

THE ORIENTAL CRISIS.

Netto Crosses the Rubicon.

The "Tribuna" published a supplement yesterday evening with telegrams news, and a tremendous manifesto from Flores. President Aguirre and his Minister of War, General Paunero, at once, left the capital on Wednesday to visit General Moreno's head-quarters and learn personally the actual forces to be placed upon in the present emergency. The Brazilians are pouring into the territory in large numbers, as the town of "Salto" is now forced to abide. We gave the news a week ago, but in Montevideo they tried to blind them selves and the public of Buenos Ayres by ignoring the fact.

General Netto crossed the frontier with a strong division, and advanced steadily through the country with the Brasilian filibuster, Colonel Fidelis, at the head of 800 men, passed the river Yi on Sunday, and was expected to effect a junction with Flores on yesterday.

General Lucas Moreno is said to be sustaining severely from desertion, and to have solicited the Montevideen Government to be relieved of his command. The rival armies are almost within sight of each other Blanco is at Rio Negro, and the Colorados at Barrancos, on the banks of the Santa Lucia.

The gathering in Buenos Ayres is, that the Oriental Government cannot stand many days Dr. Requena has had a private conference with President Mitre at the residence of the latter, but has not been received officially. Rumor runs that the able Oriental statesman, Don Andres Lamas (at present in the city), will be raised to the Premiership of Montevideo, by an arrangement of both parties, and so terminate the dangerous crisis which is about to threaten that republic — God knows where.

The New Tariff on Wool in the United States.

On the wool unmanufactured, and all hair of the alpaca goat or other like animals, unmanufactured, the value whereof at the last port from whence exported to the United States shall be 24 cents or less per pound, 3 cents per pound; or exceeding 12 cents, and not exceeding 24 cents per pound, 6 cents per pound; exceeding 24 cents per pound, 10 cents per pound, and in addition thereto ten per centum ad valorem; but the duties on wool, hair of the alpaca goat or other like animals shall be imported in any other than the ordinary condition as now and heretofore practised, or which shall be changed in its character or condition for the purpose of evading the duty, or which shall be reduced in value by the admixture of dirt or any foreign substance, shall be subject to a duty of 10 cents per pound with the addition of ten per centum ad valorem, any thing in this act to the contrary notwithstanding: provided, that where the wool of different qualities is imported in the same bale, bag or package, and the aggregate value of contents of the bale bag or package shall be ascertained by appraisers at a rate exceeding 24 cents per pound, it shall be charged with a duty of 10 cents per pound, and ten per centum ad valorem; and when the different qualities are embraced in the same invoice at the same price, whereby the average price shall be lessened more than ten per centum, the value of the wool shall be appraised according to the value of the bale of the quality, and no bale, bag or package shall be liable to a less rate of duty in consequence of being invoiced with wool of a lower value; and provided further, that wool which shall be increased in value by being scoured or cleaned, except while on the sheep, shall pay, in addition to the duties herein provided, the duty upon the amount of such duties. Sheepskins, raw or unmanufactured, imported with the wool on, washed or unwashed, shall be subject to a duty of 30 per centum ad valorem, and on flocks, waste, or shoddy, 3 cents per pound.

The attention of the Collector of Customs at the port of importation as to the rate and amount of duties is final, unless notice of dissatisfaction is made to the collector at the time of the payment of duty, and appeal taken to the Secretary of the Treasury within thirty days.

A discriminating duty of ten per cent is levied on all goods brought in foreign vessels.

More Confederate Privateers

The situation is not very clear in regard to the Confederate ships finished and finishing in England. Three of the four frigates have been launched, one at Bordeaux and two at Nantes, the fourth and one at Bordeaux will soon follow its mates into the water. The two iron-clad rams cannot be launched yet for several weeks. The fast of the frigates launched at Bordeaux, the Jeddo, is nearly ready for sailing, and the question of her destination, and especially of her nationality, must be decided by the authorities. M. Arman declared to the French Government that he had sold the vessel to the French Government; but this has been shown not to be the case, and people are naturally beginning to lose confidence in M. Arman's word, notwithstanding his high political position. The Jeddo is announced as nearly ready for a voyage to China, and offers to take passengers and freight. But nobody believes in this pretended voyage; when once at sea the Jeddo will pass into Confederate hands to her own destiny. An American gentleman who has just been on board the Jeddo, writes me some curious details about her. Her screw and rudder are of bronze, and cost 7,000 francs. The screw has but two wings, and can be raised entirely out of the water when the vessel is under sail. Her cabins are very small, and fitted up in mahogany, but these fittings can be taken down and stowed away in half an hour. The engines themselves are made aft for two heavy guns, with port-holes large enough to permit the pivoting of the guns from side to side: there is a second steering wheel, so as to be out of danger. There are two rows of portholes near the bow, the same size as the others, on the upper deck, in the bow, she is to carry a large pivot gun. The guns are ready, and no difficulty is anticipated by the Confederate agents in placing them on board. She is to carry three masts, of which the two principal are of hollow steel. Her engines are of 800 horse power, and of very superior workmanship. The water tanks, as they are called, are also of iron, and are said to be a certain part of the hold which suggests a powder magazine. She will probably carry, in all, 16 to 17 guns, and is expected to attain a very high speed. She is lined on the inside with two thicknesses of iron, one-third of an inch thick each, and her inner wall has entirely cork lining. This new inside covering of a ship ought to be called its portlenoum. It is understood, however, that more for strength than for resistance to balls.

Romance in Private Life

The most extraordinary and amusing romance happened last week in this city. A gentleman resident in a neighbouring province came to Buenos Ayres, and prevailed on a fair Portena to consent to accept his hand in matrimony. Don Diogo (as we will call him) is a middle aged widower: it appears his first wife left him country twenty years ago to visit her family in Chile, and news of her death afterwards reached her afflicted family. D. Diogo therefore prevailed D. Juan and another friend to prove her decease, preparatory to taking out a license, and when all was arranged, one of the Canons of our Cathedral fixed the following evening for the happy ceremonial.

It happened next day that Don Juan was chatting with a friend and casually observed; "So, Diego is to be married to-night"

"Oh! you bravely jesting, replied the other, his wife is alive and in this city Only yesterday, her cousin told me she had called on him relative to a law-suit."

Don Juan waited to hear no more, but set off at full speed for the Canon's house, and was unfortunate enough to find his reverence had gone out, probably to the church. At length he met him, and with panting heart exclaimed:

"And are they married, father?"

"How, sir! Have you not yourself acted as witness?"

"Nay, pray tell me, for God's sake, is it done?"

"Really I don't understand you,"

"Heavens! his wife Mercedes is alive!" and here he began to explain how he had learned the tidings, and declared he would at once go in search of D. Diego.

In half an hour Don Diego and his blooming bride presented themselves to be bound in holy wedlock.

"I can't marry you, said the priest, Doña Mercedes is alive and in Buenos Ayres.

"My God, sir, it is a mistake. She is dead over 20 year in Chile." But it was all in vain, and the impatient bridegroom left his wife at the church door, to find out his friend Juan. The latter at once told him that Sor. Gomez could testify to the strange announcement. That night Gomez was not to be found, but next morning Diego walked into his office, stating he had urgent business with him.

"My dear fellow," began the latter, "I am rather pressed, and if you could call to-morrow".

"By heavens I won't leave this till you hear me."

And then followed an animated dialogue, in which Diego learned that the cousin of his first wife testified to her existence.

"Let us go together to see him," said Diego.

Poor Gomez saw no escape from his tormentor, and, although dreading an awful scene, consented.

Away they posted, stumbling over everybody, as if mad, and rushed into Julian's apartment.

"Tell me, destroyer of my peace! have the lady Mercedes ?"

"Aye, faith," replied the cousin, she was with me an hour ago."

Gentle reader, fancy the state of mind of a man in such circumstances. When about to espouse a blooming maiden, he is suddenly brought face to face with a wife buried over twenty years! Happily he did not go mad, or commit suicide, or get drunk, or sue for a divorce, or run away from his creditors.

No! he presented himself next day to the Canon for forgiveness. "Holy father I see the misfortune I have suffered. Mercedes de Los Rios is really alive, but it is my daughter! She examine from Sto. Fe, without my knowledge, to look after a law-suit, and hence the mistake.

The romance ended like all comedies: the happy couple were wed on Monday evening, and we wish them every happiness.

HERCULANEUM & POMPEII.

Our readers will pardon an error in yesterday's impression, written in the hurry of the moment. Three cities were disinterred not 30, but over 1600 years ago. A Neapolitan digging a well discovered the first at a depth of 24 feet, A.D. 1713. Pompeii was also laid bare by some peasants ploughing, 37 years later. Nevertheless these explorations were only completed a few years ago by Ferdinand, (click name of Bomb), father of Francis ex-king of Naples.

THE ORIENTAL CHARIVARI

We have received the two first Nos. of this publication, which is so "flat, stale, and unprofitable," that the only subject provocative of a smile is, how the editor ever dreamed that there was any attic salt in his composition.

U. S. SANATORY COMMISSION.

To the Editors of the Standard.

Gentlemen,

I am much pleased to see your valuable paper has advocated so strongly the cause of the Sanatory Commission for the relief of our suffering wounded and sick countrymen, and take much pleasure in extending our hearty thanks to you for your benevolent work. We, number very few natives of the United States in Montevideo, but those few with only one exception, have subscribed most liberally to the subscription list. We have also met with liberal and generous exceptions from the English residents here, and to-day we received the very liberal donation of $100 f. from the Banco Maua. As your excellent paper has a large circulation here, and is read by all those who speak English, it is most desirable that the result of our efforts be made known to the public by publishing that part of the circular relating to Montevideo; you will find it in English in all the Montevideo news papers.

I remain yours most respectfully,

PEDRO BOURSS.

ANGORA GOATS WOOL.

Nos. 33 & 35 Calle 25 de Agosto.
Montevideo, July 19 1864.

Messrs. M. G. and E. T. Mulhall.

Dear Sirs.—From having read in your paper of the 17th inst. a communication on the Angora Goat, I am induced to give the following information as Buenos Ayres is being a great improvement on the Goat, that those who are interested may have the full benefit.

Those animals have been obtained after great pains by the Acclimatisation Society at London and Paris.

1st male goat	1st female sheep
2nd male hibrid	2nd female hibrid
3rd male hibrid	3rd female sheep

This generation consists of three generations since the importation.

In order to keep up this fine breed, join a female of the second generation with a male of the first, the result will be 3/4 blood, and 1/4 blood. This generation produces the splendid Pelisse of commerce, so much appreciated in Chile and Europe.

I remain respectfully yours,

J. A. NEWNHAM.

Honorary and Corresponding Member of the Acclimatisation Societies of Victoria and New South Wales.

NORTHERN RAILWAY.

Buenos Ayres July 20, 1864.

To the Editors of the Standard.

Gentlemen,

I regret being placed again in the necessity of correcting erroneous statements contained in your paper respecting the Northern Railway.

In to-day's impression, alluding to the projected extension, you state that the present company have no intention of prolonging the line to Zarate, and in order to secure its realization, a new company will have to be organised.

I request your reference to my petition to the Legislative Chambers, published in your paper and if I am not mistaken in the 'Standard' also. Therein you will perceive that the company was formed for the building of the railway to San Fernando, and the further prolongation to a port of the Parana. The prospectus and articles of association are explicit in this respect, and my instructions from the Directors show no alteration in the original intentions of the Company.

I remain, gentlemen, yours truly,

HENRY J. ZIMMERMANN.

WRECK OF THE HENRIETTE.

The United States Consul in this city has received the following letter with reference to the wreck of the Hamburg brig Henriette, which cleared from Buenos Ayres in the early part of March last for Boston:

United States Consulate,

Bahia, June 14, 1864.

H. R. Helper, U. S. Consul, B. Ayres,

Sir—The brig Heuriette has been wrecked off this coast, about forty miles to the southward of Bahia Blanca.

Part of the cargo was saved in a damaged condition, and sold at auction in this city.

I herewith enclose the consular mail found on board. The balance of the mail I have forwarded to New York.

Yours very respectfully,

THOMAS F. WILSON,
U. S. Consul.

CONGRESS.

The National Senate met yesterday, and Sor. Rojo moved a bill for the protection of citizens of Montevideo and the 'Pueblo' against Senator Piñero. It was sent to committee.

Another Military Outrage.

On Wednesday night, 8 p.m., seven soldiers of the Italian Legion being armed with swords, attempted to rob a house in the corner of Temple and Artes. The poor fellow ran for his life, crying out "help, help." Commissary Igarzabal aided by a policeman, and D. Francisco Hernandez succeeded in capturing three of the ruffians, after receiving several stabs, and conveying them to the Alcaldia.—Pueblo.

We suppose they were released next morning.

ON CHANGE.

July 21st, 1864.

Paper price of ounces 466.
Paper price of sovereigns 142.

There was very little business done in the Bolsa to-day; and, in fact, only some half dezen of the leading brokers are doing anything at all. The speculation ring, which was once too small for the brokers, has now many vacant places, even on the very busiest days. Some brokers are gone to the country—others to the glory—and some are clerks and cashiers in the offices of their more fortunate confrè. Well may the 'Tribune' exclaim, 'such is life.' Business is daily diminishing—living becomes steadily increasing—orders from merchants are few and far between, and it needs no extreme prescience to read 'the handwriting on the wall.' But gloomy as are the prospects of the brokers, there is a sort of lullaby feeling which keeps up on 'Change, and oftentimes the broker who does the least business, and earns five dollars once a week in commissions, is the very gayest of the throng.

Things cannot last much longer as they are, in Change time there are two few merchants, or too many brokers. We all well remember when the average sales of the day were fifteen thousand ounces, and the average now is two to three thousand. As a class, there is not a more gentlemanly body in Buenos Ayres than the specie brokers, but the paper dollar is getting out of vogue Specie is current in the shops and hotels. Speculation has died out, and thus it is, that the services of the polite, polished broker are dispensed with. If the brokers wish to retain their business, they must unite and put stocks and bonds on 'Change, the only legimate subjects of speculation, and turn the depraved paper dollar adrift.

Mr. Rom, the talented Secretary of the Bolsa, has received from Mr. T. Armitage a piece of the new Atlantic Telegraph Cable, to be laid down between Ireland and Newfoundland. We saw one notice to visit his office and inspect it, as it is really a great curiosity. Mr. Rom requests us to say that he will be most happy to show it to all our readers. The total length of the graph line will be 14 millions of pastons, and the Great Eastern is chartered to lay it down.

The proposed project to redeem the paper dollar, which we mooted yesterday, hangs, to use the favourite expression of a disgusted English merchant, like the sword of Damocles, over the black board, for if the value of the paper dollar is fixed, and convertible notes issued, the paper will be turned into a reading room, or a commodious Café Chantant.

Patacons opened at 26/15, and immediately run down to 26/10. On inquiring into the cause of the fall, we ascertained that a leading English broker hurled two thousand patacons on the market. They were taken up by an English broker, equally popular, but less emphatic. Cash sales, 16,734.

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAYO & CO.,

No. 103 Calle de Cangallo,

BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artizans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and will open a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo, from Nine a.m. till Three p.m. on Week Days, and on Sundays and Holidays from Ten a.m. to Twelve m., for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the greatest welfare.

The bank of Mauá and Co. are persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.

Buenos Ayres, September 19, 1863.

Fp. Mauá and Co.

WILLIAM LESLIE

CONDITIONS.

First—The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty-five Dollars currency Silver Dollar upwards.

Second—The interest allowed is six per cent. (6 p %) per annum, which is liquidated every six months.

Third—The depositors can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the Bank will give a receipt, by half a year at a time, according to the rules established by the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book, it can be replaced by another on paying twenty dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.
